

The Deputies' conference, aimed at Deputy and Assistant Headteachers, is designed to create valuable space and time to reflect on what it means to be a high-performing leader and to develop the skills to lead teams effectively.

Led by James Heale (ex-headteacher, leadership development expert and Director of Leadership and Development for Tower Hamlets Education Partnership), the aims of the day are to provide:

- Insights from high-performing organisations within and beyond the world of education
- Opportunities for discussion and collaboration in interactive workshops
- Practical tools that delegates can take away and use the very next day.

Senior Leaders are the engine rooms of schools, driving school improvement whilst simultaneously building effective teams. Operational aspects of these roles, however, can often become overwhelming and pressures on time can potentially curtail this positive impact. This conference will create the space and time to reflect focus on personal development at a senior level, as well as providing an opportunity to build a strong professional network.
